2013 ANNUAL REPORT

MICHELLE BALDWIN &
DAVID BILLSON

On reflection, 2013 was a pivotal year for Pillar and the growth of social innovation in the City of London. The incremental gains in progress in the areas of a shared space initiative, social enterprise, and community collaboration between nonprofits, businesses and governments are remarkable when viewed together over the span of a year.

Pillar and our community could not have achieved this growth without the support of over 300 members, 20 sustaining members and associates, sponsors, partners, volunteers and staff. We are grateful for the support from our community and continue to strive to make London a more engaged, inclusive and vibrant community.

The highlights for us this year included the crystallization of the social innovation shared space in the form of a viable business plan and the hunt for a location. In addition, we are proud of the continued support of our social enterprise program by the Ontario Trillium Foundation; welcoming over 700 attendees to the Pillar Community Innovation Awards; the participation of all three pillars of our community - nonprofit, business and government - at the Community Collaboration Forum; and our partnership with the Prince's Seeing is Believing Program.

On behalf of the Pillar Board of Directors and staff, we extend our sincere thanks to all of our supporters and community for the great work being done to improve our city for all of its citizens.

We are excited about 2014 as we continue to focus on social innovation and community collaboration and a shared space to act as a focal point for these activities.

Individuals looking to explore their dream job in the nonprofit sector were invited to monthly "Nonprofit Career Talk" events with Michelle Baldwin.

Over 700 community members celebrated with us at the 7th annual Pillar Community Innovation Awards and were inspired by 12 outstanding finalists.

For the Social Innovation Shared Space project, Pillar and key partners hosted 3 Design Jams with over 100 attendees, a bus tour to Toronto to visit the Centre for Social Innovation and Artscape, and a pre-application process to document community need with over 100 interested users.

Pillar's 2nd Community Collaboration Forum was well attended with over 200 business, public and nonprofit leaders identifying new opportunities to collaborate in our community.

Pillar had fun hosting our first live webcast announcement of the finalists for the 2013 Pillar Community Innovation Awards.

Pillar engaged and inspired over 1500 local youth in our community to contribute 8000 hours of volunteer time during the annual 4-week ChangeTheWorld Ontario Youth Volunteer Challenge.

Leading for Community Change program was a sold-out series designed to maximize leadership potential in order to create positive change in our community.

The Prince's Seeing is Believing event engaged business leaders to address poverty through the lens of mental health as a barrier to employment.

Prince Charles created this program to engage corporate leaders to take action on social issues.

Our sold-out All About Boards program ran for the third time. The series gave local board members a chance to learn the ins and outs of board development.

Social Innovation Shared Space

Co-working, incubating new ideas and fostering social innovation for community change.

Working together, Pillar Nonprofit Network, Emerging Leaders, London Arts Council and London Heritage Council responded to an overwhelming community interest in creating a shared space to spark social innovation among nonprofits, social enterprises, social purpose businesses and entrepreneurs.

During 2013, London Community Foundation invested in the feasibility study and business plan for a social innovation shared space that included hosting three Design Jams with over 100 attendees, a bus tour to Toronto to visit the Centre for Social Innovation and Artscape, and a pre-application process to document community need with over 100 interested users.

An exhaustive research process was undertaken by Pillar Nonprofit Network and our partners including significant community consultation, business modeling, real estate reviews, proof of concept, tenant letters of intent and financing. This research confirms a large demand in London for the space, as a highly-viable opportunity for social innovators.

An extensive building search has been in progress and the next chapter in the social innovation shared space will include securing a building to bring this vision to reality in London Ontario.

“ I wanted to send a note of thanks to your team for organizing and executing a fantastic event. It was wonderful to be a part of an evening of celebration and recognition. There are so many wonderful community builders in London! Thank you for all that you do for the nonprofit sector.”

Arden McClean
Leadership Finalist, Pillar Community Innovation Awards

“ I have attended many Pillar events and courses. As an active member of the Board of Directors at the London Training Centre, Pillar is often recommended to our Board Members to take the opportunity to attend some of your many useful resources as we work through our Strategic Planning, etc.”

Sandra Polson
Board Member, London Training Centre

“ I was impressed by the depth and breadth of social enterprise in London – there’s a real diversity of models. Clearly evidence of community impact, and groups like Pillar creating a supportive ecosystem.”

David LePage
Program Manager, Enterprising Nonprofits

“ I realized that helping others is a win-win situation, because not only would I help people, but I would feel better about myself. So, I decided to start volunteering, not just for the hours, but for the community that once embraced me and helped me when I needed. Getting involved in the community was certainly a turning point in my life.”

Daniel Alfaro
Youth Volunteer, ChangeTheWorld Ontario Youth Volunteer Challenge
